Entertain Yourself

Up your tableware presentation, even when it's takeout for one

Eating take-out food at home can go one of two ways. There are the civilized types, who re-plate, re-heat, and even add additional garnishes to their fare. Then there are the heathens, including me, who aren't above eating straight from the disposable container (you've done it, don't lie!).

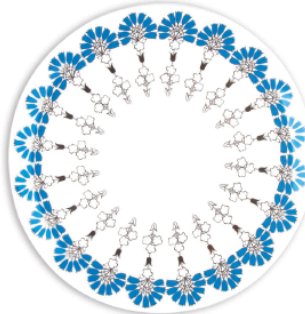

But under this newly quarantined era, I have made it a point to switch sides and enjoy both the taste and presentation of my meal while eating at home. With that in mind, we've selected some of our favorite dishware to present the ideal mise en place that will surely outlast our isolation.

Tory Burch Lettuce Wear dinner plate, $49

H&M Home "Leaves" porcelain plate, $9.99

Nimerology "I'm Off To Join The Circus" dinner plate, $48

John Derian Green Yellow & Red Marble dinner plate, $164
